In France, six million people walk regularly in the mountains. It is the best-equipped country in the world with its countless long-distance hiking trails, some of which, such as the GR20 in Corsica, the Tour of the Mont Blanc or the Diagonale des Fous in Reunion, have become legendary. In each film, we walk in the footsteps of a mountain guide, a specialist in his region, which makes the viewer experience a hike from the inside. Breathtaking landscapes, aerial shots, on-board cameras closer to the action, hiking has never been filmed with so much precision, emotion and beauty.
