Every year, hundreds of Canadian women form relationships with prisoners. Even though they will never get out of prison, many of them end up marrying them. Pedophiles, necrophiles, skimmers, serial killers, cannibals, these prisoners have fan clubs and are sometimes real stars. Why do they do this? What could push apparently balanced women to abandon their husbands and children to commit themselves to a criminal? Where do these women come from and what is their background? Mon Amour Ma Prison, with the help of one of these women and experts in the field of justice, looks at these "lovers" and admirers of violent criminals who, defying all natural laws, surrender themselves to the most despicable individuals of humans.
