The St-Eustache racetrack, opened since 1964, is one of Quebec's cultural jewels and the economic engine of the city of St-Eustache. Each season, two hundred thousand fans gather on the legendary track. In 2019, the racetrack, while being the most frequented one in Canada, must close its doors following a decision of the city of Saint-Eustache, leaving the racing and modified car enthusiasts of Quebec orphaned, for better or for worse...
