The amazing story of Debbie Tebbs, a well-known international music artist and DJ, along with her mother Marie, two women native to Montreal who have lived in the mystery of their name 'Tebbs' and their origins all their lives. Recognized as the only two 'Tebbs' in Canada, a DNA test will allow them to reunite with their family after over 65 years of searching... but not just any family! Debbie and her mother will embark on a larger-than-life adventure, connecting them to Chicago, artists like Prince and Dinah Washington, and a series of significant events in the American music industry, to which, unbeknownst to them, they were directly linked.

A family of virtuoso musicians, a tour liaison, a secret child, a hidden identity, decades of mystery, an unimaginable discovery, the creation of an album and a tour of performances, and an important message of perseverance and hope. That's what you'll find through this captivating and touching documentary series, told through the eyes and music of Debbie Tebbs and presented through unseen scenes and exclusive interviews, including with Joshua Welton, Debbie's cousin who was the sole director during Prince's career.
