Sixteen-year-old Kelsey is trying to figure out who she is while navigating the pressures of high school, friendships, and first love. With the support of her rebellious best friend Lexi, Kelsey begins taking risks she never thought she would—like piercing her nose, and pursuing Ryan, a boy she's been texting online. But when Ryan turns out to be nothing like she imagined in real life, Kelsey begins to question what's real and what's just an illusion.

Things get even messier when she finds herself caught in a love triangle with her dreamy classmate Elliot and his confident girlfriend Madison. At home, she struggles with her overprotective mom and a younger brother who seems to be growing up faster than she expected.

As friendships are tested and expectations shattered, Kelsey struggles to find her way in a world that's so online—while discovering who she really is in real life.
