

PARIS AGENT SECRET URBAN ADVENTURE

SECRET AGENT
Adventure Game 52 minutes

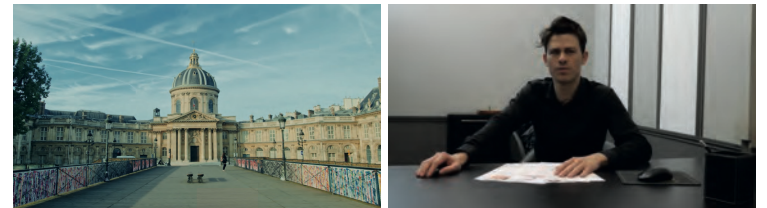

For more information, please contact us:
info@hgagnondistribution.com | T +1 514 944-8038

General principle

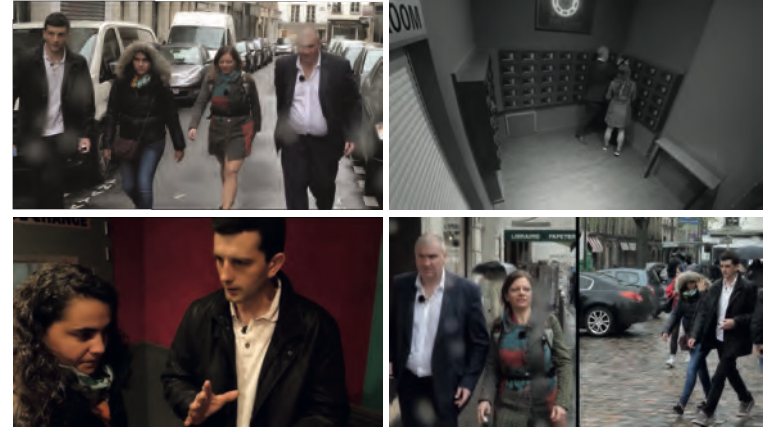

Beautiful urban landscapes, fierce competition, adventurers who surpass themselves...!
Secret Agent is the urban adventure game even more thrilling than any other big adventure movie.

The base of special agents is led by a true charismatic spy of an elite intelligence service.

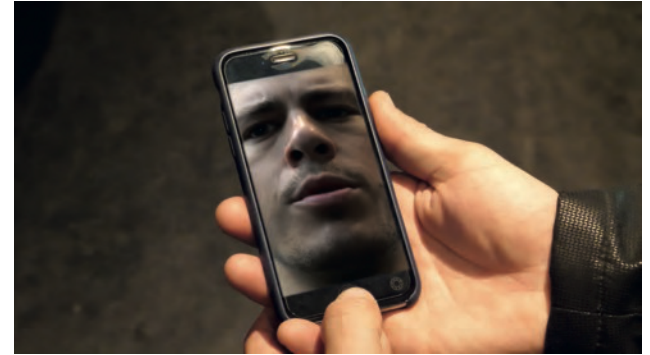

Two pairs of competing agents will be deployed on the same mission and will have to locate a target to neutralize it.

The target is a true chameleon, constantly on the move.

The mission of our agents is to move in a populated environment, on a specific urban territory and in a determined duration, following secret information transmitted or collected during the adventure.

This mission mixes physical involvement, orientation, memorization, knowledge, actions and emotions. It is based on essential human values: team spirit, mutual help, self-improvement and trust.

The reward of 100,000 dollars will be for the best, if the target does not escape your nets in time.

Each episode is a new adventure and surprises are waiting for you in this adventure as fascinating as hectic and breathless. So many rebounding events await you with sleeping agents installed in clandestinely, traps with lures, coded messages to decipher...

This urban adventure is "The mission that will change your life!"

The beginning of the adventure

The command base of the agents is the starting point of the adventure.

This base of special agents is led by a true charismatic spy of an elite intelligence service. The primary function of a special agent is an individual spy who is engaged in a secret activity of clandestine intelligence gathering to look for somebody.

Two pairs of competing agents will be deployed on the same mission and will have to locate a target to neutralize it. The target is a true chameleon, constantly in action and on the move. You will love discovering and following our two pairs of secret agents in pursuit of this target.

During the game, the chief of command keeps candidate's personal phone and gives them a relay of contact allowing him to be in permanent relation with them! With this contact relay, candidates also get a database with an intramural Paris's map.

The mission master may send written or visual coded messages and candidates can make a request to activate a sleeping agent. He also gives each duo 2 metro tickets and 10 dollars!

Candidates are exclusively in contact with the head of the control base. Through the base of command, there is a permanent visualization in mapped positioning of the target and the two pairs of secret agents; and in the field live monitoring of agents on mission.

The pilot

This new original format makes discover to the tele-viewers many cities in France and in the world during each new broadcast. Each city offers many remarkable urban scenery (architectural, cultural, social ...).

The mission of our agents is to move in a populated environment in Paris's intramurals urban jungle and for a fixed duration of 50 minutes, following some secret information transmitted or collected during the adventure.

Starting from the first index time is counted. (Right now, the target is stealing a masterpiece. You have 50 minutes to neutralize it, good luck!!!)

In this demo, the base of command is located at the Institute de France, headquarters of the 5 French intellectual academies (the French Academy, letters, sciences, fine arts, politics).

This institute also hosts a 6th academy: The Academy of Secret Agents. It is an organization kept secret and which is now open to you. Immerse yourself behind the scenes of an urban adventure as fascinating as unknown.

Stakeholders in the adventure

The target is a person man or woman, true chameleon, constantly moving and in action in this area.

When an agent's pair thinks they have located the target, they must simply report to the target and ask him: "Are you our target?" If you make a mistake, your adventure stops immediately.

The lure of the target: It is a false target that is placed on the area by the target itself to blur the tracks.

Sleeping Agents: In the field of intelligence, a sleeping agent, also called "dormant", is an agent tentatively and deliberately inactive; this state generally aims to counter the enemy detection measures (counterintelligence).

Whenever candidates activate a sleeping agent, in order to obtain information about the target, the potential gain is divided by 2. Be aware that this agent is activated only when candidates' request it and their request must be validated by the mission commander.

You should also know that the activation of a sleeping agent will not allow you to go faster in the adventure. It is a help to reorient you tracking the target when you do not have more index at the end of your bad interpretations of collected information.

Other actors participating at the adventure in secondary roles: Croupier, banker, waiter, pharmacist, jeweler, taxi driver ... these people hold information about the target or help candidates to reach the target faster.

Great cityscapes and challenging events

The action of the game takes place in a beautiful urban landscape, place of effervescence constantly moving!

Immerse yourself in the backstage of mysterious and emblematic places: monuments and historic sites, casino, jewelry, vault, underground ... So many rebounds await you with sleeping agents installed in hidings, traps with lures, coded messages to decipher ...

Secret Agent is a true escape game of adventure, a full size real scenery game with great qualities, meeting places, exchange, information's to get ... with just one goal, locate the target!

Candidate's spying qualities and their human values

This TV game combines physical involvement, orientation, memorization, knowledge, actions and emotions; and it is based on essential human values: team spirit, mutual help, self-improvement and trust.

The reward of 100,000 dollars will be for the best team, if the target does not escape your nets within the allocated time. The reward is shared between the two people of the winning duo, if there is a winning duo!

This format can take the form of a daily adventure game, with at the end of each mission a winner or not. Each episode is a new adventure and surprises are awaiting you in this adventure as fascinating as hectic and breathless.

This urban adventure is "The mission that will change your life!"

